For the Founder.

To be used every Friday morning

O Almighty and moſt Merciful Father, who by thy great Power and Wiſdom haſt created all things, and by thine ineſtimable Love, and moſt bountiful Goodneſs doſt ſuſtain and provide for the ſame; eſpecially for Man, whom thou haſt made after thine own Similitude; and for his good haſt not only made all other Creatures, but alſo haſt ordained and commanded that one man ſhould be helpful to another: according to which thy Providence thou haſt ſtirr'd up the mind of HENRY CHICHLEY ſometime Archbiſhop of Canterbury, for the releife of the diſtreſſed and encreaſe of Learning and Godlineſs, to Found this College endow'd with liberal Maintenance for thy Servants; We yeild Thee all humble and hearty thanks, for this thine ineſtimable Bounty and Fatherly goodneſs; moſt humbly beſeeching Thee, that the remembrance of theſe thy benefits may never ſlip out of our minds; but that we may dayly grow more and more in thankfulneſs towards Thee, and rightly uſe theſe bleſſings which Thou haſt beſtow'd upon us, by the hand of thy Servant, both to thy honour and glory, and the profit of the Church and Common-wealth wherein Thou haſt placed us. Grant this, O dear Father, for the love of thine only Son our Saviour Jeſus Chriſt; to whom with Thee, and the Holy Ghoſt, be all honour and praiſe, now and for evermore. Amen.

For Benefactours.

Thankſgivings.

biſhop of Canterbury; Sir William Peſter; Robert Honywood, Doctor of Laws; Richard Bartlet, Doctor of Phyſick; Thomas Gwynne, Doctor of Laws; Mr. Edward Napper, together with all other our bounteous Benefactors, whoſe Names and Memorys we ſhall ever honour and record, in Teſtimony of our Thankfulneſs, for theſe and every other of thy dayly Bleſſings, by thy Providence thus continued and multiplied unto us. And now hereunto grant, O gracious Father, that neither our abuſe of theſe thy Favours cauſe thee to bl[illegible] have received, nor our [illegible]ful-neſs provoke thee, to ſhut up the hearts of future Succeſſions from us. But let this Place, which Thou haſt founded and endow'd for thine own Glory, be ſtill the fruitful Mother of more happy Children; who both by their Knowledge may confirm the Peoples Faith, and by their Lives enflame their Charity. Be it ſo, for his ſake, whoſe unſpeakable Bounty gave us himſelf, even Jeſus Chriſt, thy Son our Saviour: to whom with Thee, and the Holy Spirit, be aſcrib'd all Honour and Glory, throughout all Generations for evermore. Amen.
